Sub : Implementation of judgement orders passed by different courts- reg.

It may be appreciated that after indepth examination of judgements orders, an administrative decision is being taken to either implement a particular judgment order or to assail the same before a higher legal forum. Multiple agencies are associated to arrive at such decision in certain cases.

The administrative decisions so arrived at are conveyed to concerned quarters for next course of action. But it has been experienced by this Directorate that certain judgement orders are not implemented in true spirit and adequate care is not being taken while drafting the speaking orders in disposing of the representation of petitioners. One important shortcoming in such orders is avoiding reference of the judgement orders which the court has made while deciding the matter with direction to the respondents to act in line with a particular judgement. In such cases, the judgement order referred as precedent or reference must be cited in the speaking orders with full justification, indicating our constraints and inability to comply with the judgement order referred by the court. Not making a reference of such orders invite adverse observations of the court and will amount to non compliance with the court's directions.

In view of the above, all concerned are requested that the exercise of issuing speaking orders in compliance of Courts' judgement orders may be done with due care and with reference to the directions or the observations of the Hon'ble Courts.
